

Is Opioid Addiction Really a Crisis?

If your eyes are open and your ears are listening, you know that opioid bullets are flying everywhere. —Scott H. Silverman

Addiction ... it isn't about one person; every individual who succumbs to opioids creates a twisting tornado that impacts seven other people every day. Families and relationships are splintered; work is destroyed; and personal health is threatened.

Addiction is a killer disease that is totally treatable. It starts with you.

Scott H. Silverman is known as The Crisis Coach / Family Navigator and a CNN Hero of the Week Award recipient. He delivers insights from over 30 years of working with individuals across all socioeconomic spectrums, cutting to the core of the biggest challenges when treating addiction. He's the author of Tell Me NO—I Dare You!, a TEDx speaker and honored on February 19 with the Scott Silverman Day by the City of San Diego. Serving as the CEO and President of Confidential Recovery and Safe Homes Coalition.

The Opioid Epidemic: What You Don't Know Will Destroy Your Family and Your Life will be available in the Winter of 2020. Within it, readers will discover:

- Addiction is a crisis ... what we need is a solution NOW!
- Greed, corruption, and cowardice created a monster.
- Telltale signs that someone is addicted.
- Stories that will sadden, shock, educate, and inspire.

YES, America ... we have a crisis! The opioid epidemic is here and growing. What would happen if every day, a plane crashed with 200 passengers on it? All dead. Every day. Would there be an uproar? You bet there would be.

Opioids kill a plane full of individuals every day, year after year. Yet, WHERE is the outrage? Where is yours?

The Opioid Epidemic: What You Don't Know Will Destroy Your Family and Your Life awaits you.
